Notice Regarding Subscription to Third-Party Allotment of Shares of Mutual Trading Co., Inc.
by Consolidated Subsidiary (Takara Shuzo Co., Ltd.)

Takara Shuzo Co., Ltd. (“Takara Shuzo”), a consolidated subsidiary of Takara Holdings, resolved at its Board of Directors’ meeting held on November 10, 2016 to subscribe to third-party allotment of shares by Mutual Trading Co., Inc. (“Mutual Trading”), a Japanese food wholesaler in the United States. Details of the subscription to third-party allotment of shares are as described below.

Mutual Trading is an affiliate accounted for by the equity method of the Company, in which Takara Shuzo owns 45.4% of its voting rights. Through the subscription to third-party allotment of shares, the ownership ratio of its voting rights will be 51.0%, and therefore Mutual Trading will become a consolidated subsidiary of the Company.

1. Reason for the subscription to third-party allotment of shares

Established in 1926 in Los Angeles, California, the United States, Mutual Trading is one of the oldest Japanese food wholesalers in the country which marks its 90th anniversary this year. The history of Mutual Trading starts with the import of Japanese foods, jointly organized by Japanese immigrants in the region who missed the foods and flavors of their homeland, such as rice, miso and soy sauce. Since then, Mutual Trading has developed markets as a pioneer in the Japanese food wholesale business in the United States, expanding its business scale gradually in line with the widening acceptance of Japanese food culture and development in transportation technologies. Currently it handles over 5,000 items covering a broad range, from Japanese foods, seasonings and alcoholic beverages to restaurant supplies including cookware, tableware and glasses, while developing its business not only in North America but in Hawaii and South America (Peru).

In 1951, Takara Shuzo commenced the export of the sake Sho Chiku Bai to the United States. Since then, Takara Shuzo has built a cooperative relationship with Mutual Trading as its largest purchaser (distributor) of alcoholic beverages and seasonings in the United States. In 1982, with investment by Mutual Trading, Takara Shuzo took control of the current Takara Sake USA Inc., and started the manufacture and sale of Sho Chiku Bai made in California the following year, 1983. Later, this became a major driving force for the further expansion of the sake business in the United States. Takara Shuzo started investing in Mutual Trading in 1985, and has continued strengthening their partnership in recent years, such as by subscription to third-party allotment of Mutual Trading shares in 2012.

Under Takara Group Vision 2020, our long-term vision for the ten years beginning in April 2011, the Company aims to expand business in markets where Takara advantages can be leveraged domestically and overseas and build a well-balanced business structure that can hold up well to business environment changes. In addition, the Takara Group Medium-Term Management Plan FY2017, the three-year management plan formulated as the second step of an action plan aimed at achieving the long-term vision, sets out a basic policy under which we will improve domestic business profitability and expand our overseas business, while at the same time building a well-balanced business structure that can hold up well to business environment changes by accelerating the growth of our Biomedical business and promotes efforts aimed at building a Japanese food wholesale network in the United States., Europe, and worldwide as one of our priority strategies.

As the number of Japanese restaurants in North America is thought to have increased by approximately 50 percent from 2013 to 2015(*), further growth in the market for Japanese food market is foreseen. The subscription to third-party allotment of Mutual Trading shares represents an agreement on the business strategies of Mutual Trading, which aims at further business growth in these market environments, and Takara Holdings, which wishes to develop its Japanese food wholesale network also in the United States under the aforesaid policy. Going forward backed by the expansion of the market for Japanese food, the Company will actively advance the construction and expansion of a global Japanese food wholesale network, primarily in Europe and the United States, and further expand our business and increase our corporate value by spreading Japanese food culture around the world.
